

BATTLE OF CENTURY IS ON AT RENO, NEV. TODAY

PHYSICAL GIANTS BOTH ARE CERTAIN

Nearly Every Country Is Represented at Greatest Fight Since Gladiators' Time

STARTS AT 3:30 LOCAL TIME

Weather Conditions Are Ideal and Great Arena Is Thronged with Sporting Men

RENO, Nev., July 4.—"Let 'er go."

At 1:30 p. m., old Billy Jordan will skedaddle about the white ropes at Rickard's brand new arena, roaring his celebrated starting signal. The huge gong will be clanged at a signal from Geo. Harting and the biggest battle of the century will be on, the supremacy of the white or black.

From every state of the union, from Canada, Mexico, Alaska and the British Isles and Europe, even from far off Australia, lovers of the fighting game have journeyed over land and sea to the shrine of the great "wallop" which reared on a sage brush plain will be the scene which promises to be the greatest battle between two human beings, that the world has seen since Christianity drove the gladiators from the Roman forum.

A purse of $101,000, or the winner's 75 per cent of it, thousands of dollars in moving pictures, in bonuses, and the honors of heading the world's list of physically mighty men, is the lure which will set these two mighty modern gladiators at one another.

"Fourth" is Forgotten

No element of the safe and sane fourth movement has penetrated the surrounding sage brush country. Reno, after a week of jabbering hysteria and convulsions, awoke today stark, staring fight mad.

Even before dawn the sidewalks were congested with noisy parties, some denotations of impossible crowds packed into hotel rooms and store rooms, other patrons of the game, which after a Sunday of idleness opened at midnight and were kept going at full blast throughout the day. Even at the gambling tables the talk was not of the red or black or the turn of the cards, it was of the fight.

The restaurants, hotel corridors and the dining rooms and at every spot where more than two persons met the talk was fight, fight, fight. The very air was surcharged with the spirit of the contest. The date was forgotten. Apparently no one remembered the Fourth of July, the birth of the American republic and the day to be made more famous by the meeting of Jeffries and Johnson.

Notables and Nobodies

By 7 o'clock the streets had become almost impassable. Restaurants and dining rooms had been packed to the doors and notables and nobodies rubbed elbows and met on common ground as they struggled for places as they entered the dining places.

"Big Tim" Sullivan, custodian of the "Bacon"—prize of $101,000—had apparently forgotten to turn his watch back to make up the three hours difference between New York and Reno time and was out on "railroad row" promenading with Hugh McIntosh, the Australian. Tom Sharkey, so anxious to get his challenge in print, bumped into the pair and in his enthusiasm offered to buy a drink. By the time the breakfast hour was over, a roll call of the throng in front of the Golden hotel would have sounded like the index of "Who's who in sportdom."

Jake Kilrain, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Burns, Abe Attell, Battling Nelson, Stanley Ketchel, Eddie Hanlon, Sam Langford, Young Peter Jackson and many others, past and present stars and near stars, were in the crowd. But while the huge diamonds of the sporting fraternity in the gathering glistened brightly they were not by any means the only profession present, actors, lawyers and every other line of trade and profession being among the throng.

"Dips" Reap Harvest
Nimble fingered "dips" worked through the crowd and reaped a fine harvest of time pieces and pocket-books. Occasionally one would be nabbed and jerked out of the crowd and taken to jail by a husky ranger or policeman, but the miscreants' protestations of innocence and the victim's howls of wrath were drowned in the general babble and caused but slight ripples in the surging human tides.

Yesterday was comparatively quiet. Missouri attitude is "show me," the Nevada attitude is "show you." The citizens were most zealous in their efforts to entertain eastern visitors and did not fail in every respect to

MEDICAL EXPERT; CO. SANITARIUM

Brown Report Urges These Together with Permanent White Plague Committee in La Crosse

INVESTIGATION IS COMPLETE

La Crosse Is One of Most Gravely Affected Communities in State; Little Being Done

The death rate from consumption in La Crosse is 11.3 per cent; that in Milwaukee is 8.5. The average number of deaths in Wisconsin cities is one for each 942 inhabitants; in La Crosse it is one for every 635 inhabitants. The committee's recommendations include the establishment of a county sanitarium; provision for an expert health officer to deal with the disease; the establishment of a permanent committee of citizens to promote the work.

A strong report has been made summarizing the findings of the tuberculosis survey in La Crosse. The investigation was conducted by Harvey Dee Brown, Ph. D., publicity agent of the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis Society, assisted by Miss Florence Easton, Mrs. C. N. Moller and Miss Nettie Sabelwitz. Miss Two and Mr. Kolls are in the employ of the association, and Mrs. Moller and Misses Easton and Sabelwitz contributed their services.

The report covers the extent to which La Crosse is suffering from tuberculosis, a comparison of this with other cities, a discussion and criticism of the methods used here, and recommendations for improvement of conditions. The findings as to the extent of tuberculosis in La Crosse are as follows:

The Extent of Tuberculosis
The number of deaths from consumption in La Crosse is comparatively large as may be seen from the following figures:
In 1907 there were 45 deaths from tuberculosis out of a total of 451 deaths from all causes. This shows that 10 per cent of all deaths were from this disease. There was one death from consumption for every 635 people.

In 1908 there were 55 deaths out of a total of 407 deaths from all causes. This shows that 13.5 per cent of all deaths were from this disease. There was one death from consumption for every 536 people.

In 1909 there were 40 deaths out of a total of 379 from all causes. This was 10.5 per cent of all deaths and there was one death for every 725 people.

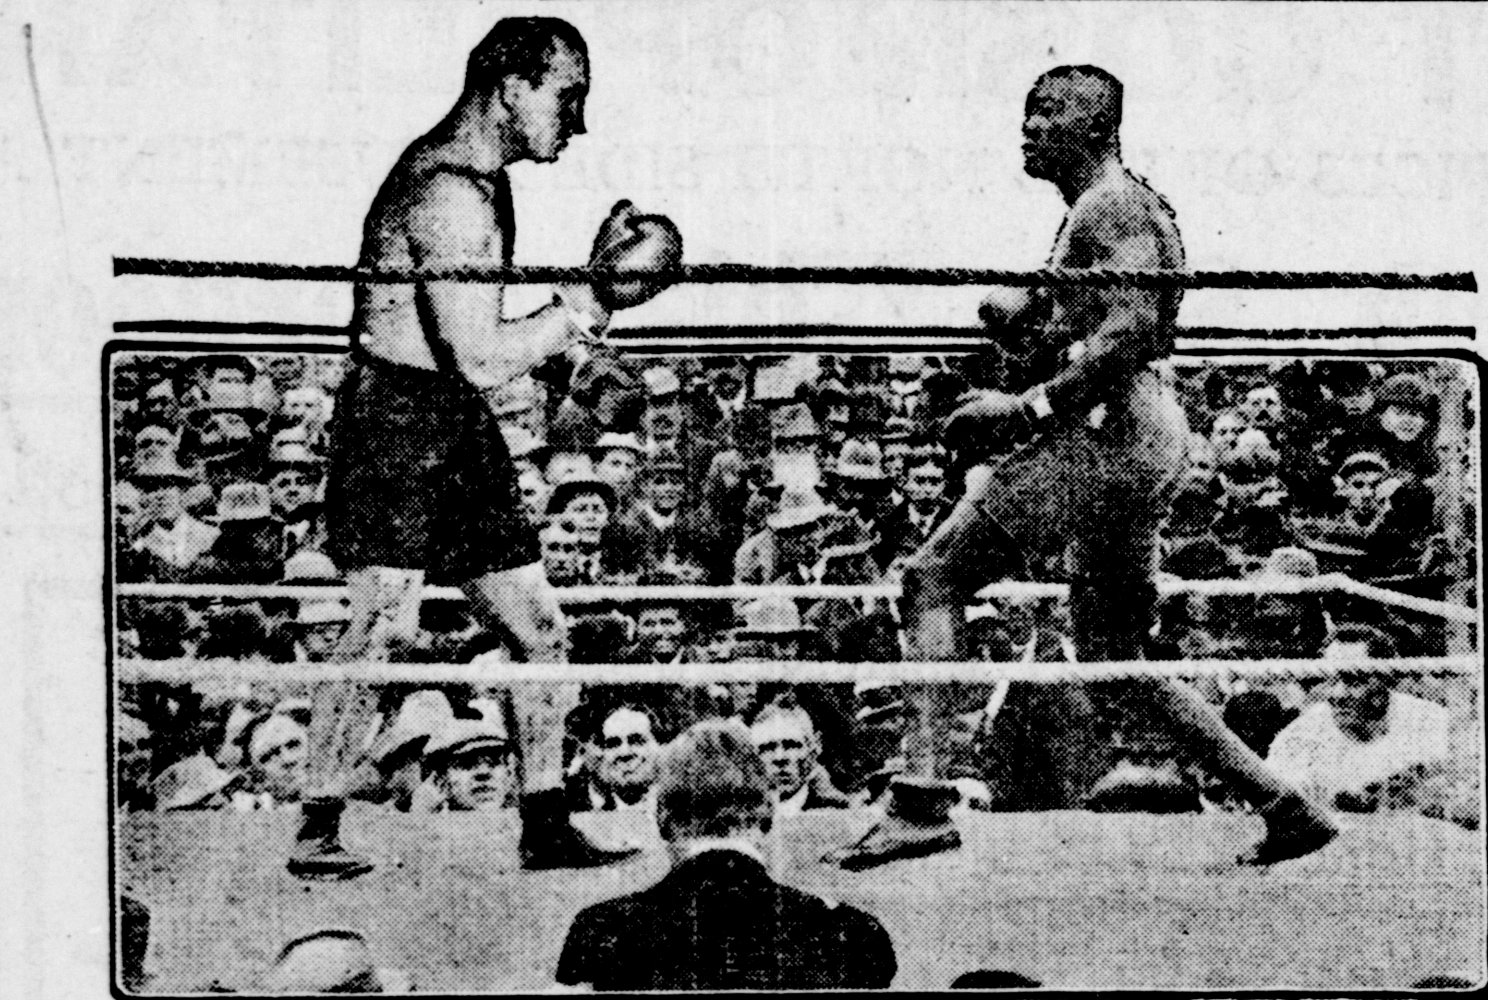

Comparison With Other Cities
The significance of these figures is evident when we compare them with the conditions in other cities and in the state. There is one death throughout the state of Wisconsin for every 942 persons—in La Crosse for every 635. The percentage of deaths from tuberculosis as compared with all deaths in the city of Milwaukee is about 8.5 per cent—in La Crosse it is 11.3 per cent. The number of deaths per 10,000 of population in Milwaukee is 12.3, in Cleveland is 12.7, in St. Paul is 9.8; in Minneapolis is 13.3, in Detroit is 11.5—but in La Crosse it is higher than in any of these, being 15.5. The cities just mentioned are the cities which have the best records. In others the rate per 10,000 of population ranges from 15 to 28 and in one case reaches the figures of 45. It is, therefore, evident that La Crosse is by no means in the worst class, although it is not by any means in the best.

In 1909 there were 36 cases of scarlet fever reported to the health department and two deaths. 34 cases of diphtheria with one death, 81 cases of small pox with no deaths and no deaths and three deaths from tuberculosis, which is nearly seven times as many as from these other contagious diseases taken together.

Death Rate High
The conclusion from these figures is irrefragable. La Crosse has a relatively high death rate from tuberculosis in proportion to its population and tuberculosis is destroying from 4 to 7 times as many persons annually as smallpox, diphtheria, meningitis and scarlet fever taken together. We shall refer back to these figures in considering the money spent in this city in the health department.

Regarding the extent to which

BALTIC RAMS AN OIL BOAT AT SEA

Hole Is Stove in Bow of Big White Star Liner, but She Comes on in Safety

THE NEWS IS KEPT SECRET

When Captain Finds Ship Is Safe He Continues the Trip to New York without Mishap

NEW YORK, July 4.—When the White Star liner Baltic reached quarantine today her pumps were going and her collision bulkheads were closed. They had been that way for three days following a smash in mid-ocean by the Baltic and the oil tank steamer Standard, enroute from Philadelphia to Copenhagen. One man, member of the Baltic's crew, was lost overboard. It is supposed that he was knocked from the deck by the collision and sank immediately. The collision occurred in a dense fog when the Baltic was 1800 east of the Ambrose channel.

Collision Unavoidable
The ship was howling along at a good rate of speed when the lookout discerned the bulk of another steamer, almost straight ahead. The alarm was given and Captain Ranson, who was on the bridge signalled the big engines reversed, the wheel was thrown all of the way over in an endeavor to pass astern of the other ship. This could not be done in time and the Baltic struck the big tanker a glancing blow which shook the White Star liner from stem to stern. A hole was torn in the Baltic and passengers rushed about in a state of frantic terror.

The minor officers and the stewards soon restored confidence to the passengers and they were ordered back to their places while an investigation was made to determine how badly the Baltic was injured. It was found that she was making some water through the hole in the bow but not enough to endanger, and the pumps were operated.

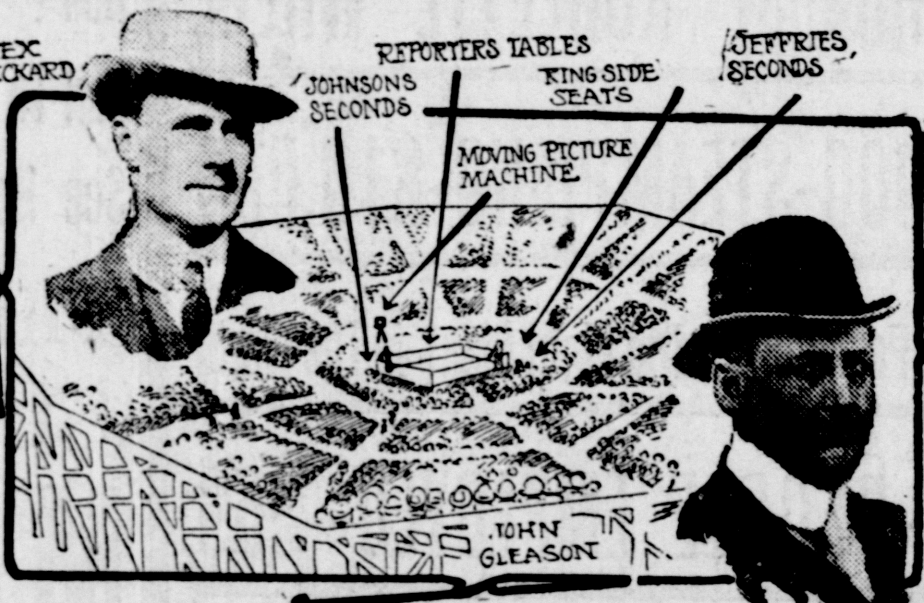

Continues Voyage
Finding that his injury was such that it did not interfere with the seaworthiness of his ship, Captain Ranson proceeded on his voyage, first instructing the wireless operator to refrain from telling anyone he might pick up about the accident. The result was that it was not until the Baltic was off Fire Island late last night that it was known she had been in a smash. The oil tank steamer did not ask for help and disappeared in the midst but it is believed she was not badly injured.

MILWAUKEE MILK SHORTAGE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 4.—On account of the milk strike there was absolutely no delivery of milk to hotels, or wholesalers, the dealers making their sole effort in the supplying of house to house trade this morning. The hotels and ice cream factories are using canned milk from western factories in enormous amounts. One ice cream factory used five tons of canned milk.

WADES INTO RIVER LOSES HIS LIFE

John Witchman of Hillsboro Drowned in the Mississippi River Yesterday

While swimming in the river, just below the Mississippi wagon bridge late yesterday afternoon, John Witchman of Hillsboro, Wis., lost his life. The young man had lived here only about a week and boarded at the home of Frank Kleintert, 531 King street. He was employed at the La Crosse Plow company.

Yesterday afternoon the victim left his boarding place with James Hanley and Sylvester Thompson, going to the river to swim. Mrs. Kleintert told the boys to wait until she prepared supper, but they preferred to go before supper. None of them could swim and one said to Witchman that someone might get drowned, whereupon the latter said "I don't care if I do."

Thompson says they all waded into the water when Witchman went in over his head. Thompson attempted to save him and he, too, was almost drowned. Witchman came up three times, then disappeared. The body has not been recovered.

The young man was known only by a few in the city. He said he had been an orphan since he was two months old and had roamed all over the country.

LOW WATER STAGE EXPOSES THE SEWER

Much complaint is being heard on the North side concerning the main sewer which is now partially exposed at the foot of Logan street, owing to the extremely low stage of water in the Black river. Waste matter is piling up about the mouth of the sewer pipe, which it is alleged is a menace to health and which is obnoxious in the extreme. The matter will be taken up at the meeting of the council Friday and will probably be referred to the committee on sewers, who will be expected to take immediate action in the affair.

HERMAN KRAUSE SERIOUSLY HURT

Falls From Ice Delivery Wagon, Striking Curbing on the Back of His Neck

Herman Krause, residing on the other side of Pettibone park, employed as a driver by the Grosch and Mader Ice company, fell from his wagon about 10:15 o'clock this morning at Fourth and Pearl streets striking on the curbing with the back of his neck. Dr. Egan is of the opinion that the man fractured the base of his skull. He is now at the St. Francis hospital.

Bystanders who saw the accident state that the driver was mounting his ice wagon when the horses moved ahead, causing him to fall. Bystanders carried him into the grocery store of F. A. Schaldach and called Dr. Egan and an ambulance, which arrived on the run. The man was rushed to the St. Francis hospital where he is in a serious condition. A crowd of 500 gathered.

Dr. Egan said that Krause sustained a fracture of the base of the skull. The patient, he said, was resting easily and there is chance for recovery.

ISLE LA PLUME AGAIN ON FIRE

Isle La Plume is again burning, and company No. 3 is busy fighting the fire, which started last night. During the evening small blazes were started in several places on the island by burning balloons, which had been sent up, the made ground being dry as tinder and starting fires very easily. No damage is being done, however, but the fire department is making every effort to put it out to prevent a repetition of the smoke nuisance.

NEW OUTFIELDER

Harry Field, Quincy, Ill., an outfielder, was signed yesterday by President Rooney of the local association. If Fields shows enough form he will be given one of the outfield positions and one of the men now with the team will be released.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER DIES SUDDENLY AT 1 A.M.

SENATOR CLAPP AT THE CHAUTAUQUA

Minnesota Insurgent will Address La Crosse Audience on Justice at 3:30 Today

NEWSPAPER MAN LECTURES

Edward Russell Perry on "Sampson Aroused" Is Pleasing; Perry Sisters Too

Program for today and this evening:
This afternoon at 2:30—The Lee-Lathrop-Fullenwider Concert Company. High class organization.
3:15—Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, lectures on "Justice."
This evening, 7:30—Concert by Lee-Lathrop-Fullenwider company.
8:15—Evening of Magic, music and fun by "Floyd," the magician.

This is the last day of the Chautauqua, the last afternoon and evening of a successful week, and by tonight at 10:30 the big tent will have been taken down, the paraphernalia packed, and preparations made to move to another community to give them in turn the pleasures and delights we have experienced.

An Auspicious Week
It has been an auspicious week. Not one artist has failed to appear nor been prevented in any way from imparting the best they had to give. Possibly some of the artists and lecturers have been greater favorites than others, but they all have pleased, and it is the consensus of opinion that La Crosse has been rarely fortunate in having had presented to them so many lecturers of the front rank, several of them National figures.
The sentiment is strongly in favor of a Chautauqua next year, and with an even better array of talent promised, the requisite number of 1000 season tickets is sure to be guaranteed.

Senator Clapp Here
Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, one of the big men of western political affairs, and a political force to be reckoned with is the star attraction this afternoon at the Chautauqua tent. That the Fourth of July crowds will hail him with delight is a foregone conclusion.

Senator Clapp will divide honors with a concert company of high rank, the Lee-Lathrop-Fullenwider organization. They come with glowing tributes from those who have heard them, and their appearance this afternoon will be a delight to music lovers.

The final entertainment of the week, that of Floyd, the Magician, who will give a program of music, magic and fun this evening at 8:15, is a fortunate selection for the National holiday, and will be a happy finale for a happy week. Floyd carries an immense amount of properties, and is a most original entertainer.

The Fox Sisters
The musical attraction of yesterday afternoon and evening were the Fox Sisters, a group of instrumentalists. (Continued on page 5.)

NEWS IS HELD FOR 4 HOURS

Heart Trouble Takes Noted Jurist During the Night at His Home in Bar Harbor, Maine

IS ENTIRELY UNEXPECTED

Chief Justice Had Been in Fairly Good Health and was Enjoying Summer Vacation

BAR HARBOR, Me., July 4.—Chief Justice M. Fuller of the U. S. supreme court died suddenly today here of heart failure. The death of Chief Justice Fuller occurred at 1 o'clock this morning but the fact did not become known until nearly four hours afterwards.

MOTORCYCLIST DIES; SMASHES INTO FENCE

DENVER, Colo., July 4.—"If anything happens to me wire my wife at Fresno." These were the last words spoken by W. W. Thorne, a motorcyclist, who is dead here today as the result of being hurled against a fence while cycling at less than a mile a minute. His body was terribly mangled. The accident occurred in full view of thousands of spectators.

Thorne and a number of other motorcyclists were forming up before a big race. While the cyclists were speeding 60 miles an hour, one of them tried to slow up and Thorne in trying to pass him ran against the fence.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE THIS FORENOON

The fire department was called to the home of M. Lund, 1609 Mississippi street, shortly before 10 o'clock this forenoon, where a basket of clothes in a bedroom on the second floor caught afire. It is not known how the blaze started. Mrs. Lund, who discovered the blaze, faint, but she was not burned. A hole was burned in the floor, but the damage is slight.

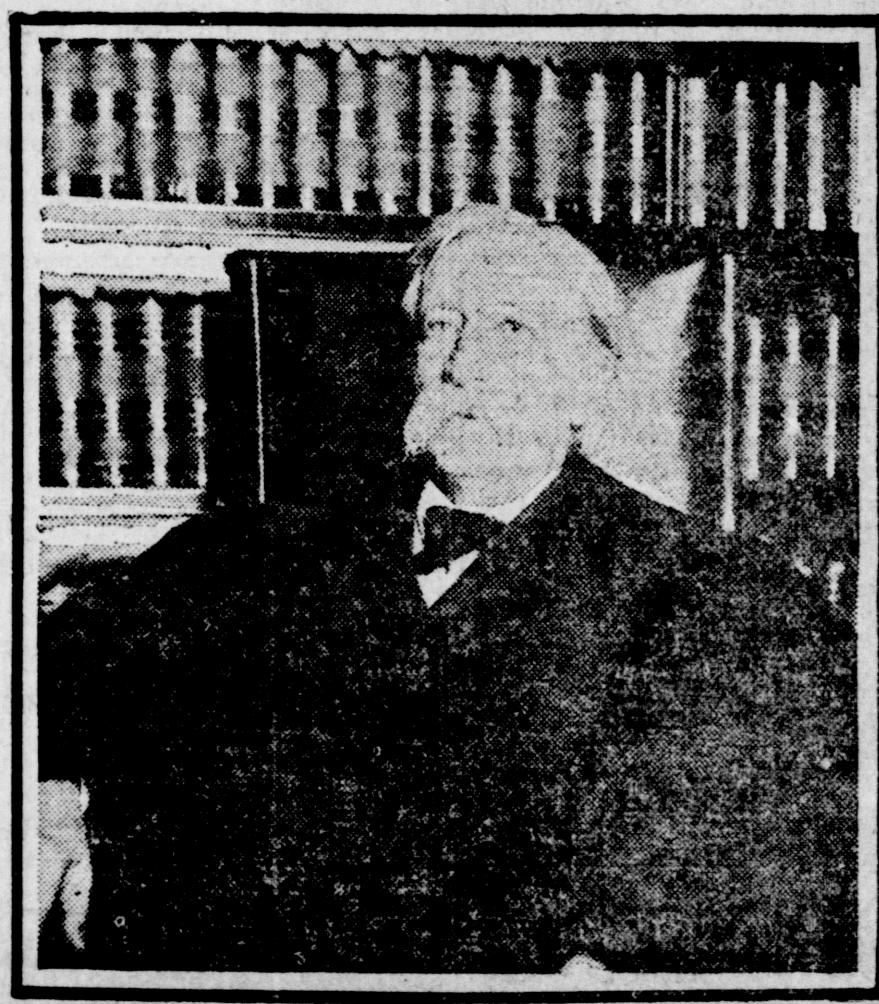

ARRANGE MOTOR BOATING PICNIC

Chairman Ernest J. Bjorkman of the entertainment committee of the La Crosse Motorboat club has called a meeting of the committee and club officers for tomorrow night, at which time arrangements will be made for the July family picnic to be given by the club. It is expected that the July outing will be held on Sunday, July 17, at Eagle Bluff, where the first picnic was held, although the exact date will not be known until after the picnic.

PROHIBITIONISTS' TICKET

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 4.—Only a partial ticket was named by the Minnesota prohibition convention, which finished its work on Saturday. The ticket:

EDUCATORS GATHER IN NATIONAL CONVENTION

BOSTON.—Everything is in readiness for the great gathering of educators from over the entire country in what is known as the National Educational Association. The convention will be called to order next Saturday and will continue until the evening of July 8.

One thousand delegates are expected from Chicago alone and in all it is estimated over 10,000 people will attend the convention.

FRAYS JOHNSON MAY SWAT JEFF

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 4.—"Oh, Lord, come down with thy mighty arm and swat Jim Jeffries on the jaw when he goes into the ring on July 4 with Jack Johnson. Oh, Lord, humiliate this man who would disgrace civilization, this minister's son who spends his time breaking other men's faces in addition to running a drunk factory—so that he will turn away from his notorious ways and become converted unto the Lord and—" stood at the corner of Second Avenue South and Washington Avenue. The preacher had been interrupted a number of times and finally one man, more daring than the rest, grabbed him roughly, gave him a few jerks, called him a liar and a few more things. Cooler heads prevented a riot. A patrolman standing across the street saw the commotion and rushed to the preacher's assistance.

He got no further with his invocation.

The preacher told Patrolman Elmer Johnson that he would yet finish that prayer.

"Not on my beat, if I know it," was the officer's reply.

RYAN A DEMOCRAT IS OUT FOR "BOB"

Prominent Marinette Real Estate Man Writes Crownhart Strong Letter of Endorsement

William J. Ryan, a prominent Marinette real estate man, a glance at whose address is sufficient to suggest that he is well acquainted with the ancient and honorable Isaac Stephenson, yesterday mailed to C. H. Crownhart, Madison, chairman of the La Follette Campaign Committee, the following letter which was written in La Crosse while the author was here on a business trip.

"June 30, 1910.
"Mr. C. H. Crownhart, Chairman,
"La Follette Campaign Committee,
"Madison, Wisconsin.

"Dear Sir:
"Your favor of the 25th inst. reached me today, after chasing me from town to town for the past several days. It is 'that persistence, however, which insures existence'—by determined, everlasting persistence will we retain even a remnant of self government.

"Not since our little tea party at Boston, has the world beheld such a reckless disregard for humanity's rights, nor have we ever before witnessed such universal graft, nor such a spirit of greed among the wealthy and influential of our land. They hold sway upon the political, industrial and social affairs of our country, perpetuating practically a system of economic serfdom, robbing the wage earner, by subterfuge, not only of the just share of his toil but endangers his liberty as well. Seldom is there a law placed upon our statute books, unless every word and line is scanned by insurgency, that has not a joker in it, or an automatic opening through which a mule and jaunting cart could easily pass.

"If I were to write on this question, 'I would head my first article, 'Inconsistency thou art a jewel.'"

"Whom We Elect
"If inconsistency rather than consistency were a jewel, the people who are supposed to elect—to govern, should be wearing diamonds from their ears to their boot straps. In every town and hamlet throughout the land, we hear the mutterings of the poor against the deception of our money-bag legislators, and notwithstanding the fact, our Congress and Senate are being continually replenished with Aldriches, Cannons, Guggenheims, Smoots and Stephensons, the hired men of the interests and now comes Mr. Millionbuck Cook, the Charles

W. Fairbanks of Wisconsin, offering himself as a sacrifice upon the altar of the dear people (?) which prompts one to remark that any portion of the Taft propaganda (especially in Wisconsin) that is not of a fool's inconsistency is made up of bare-faced, downright deception.

"I am somewhat of a humble student of politics. I have watched the maneuvers of the money-gathering fraternity, whose creed is simply Greed, in all their nefarious deceptions, and I do not hesitate to state that I honestly believe that only for the persistent efforts of the insurgency, with the aid of a portion of the minority, predatory wealth would have grabbed off the few remnants of our country's resources that have up to this time, through some hook or crook seemed to have escaped them.

"I came from a family of Democrats who have voted the ticket straight from the days of Jefferson, and I believe the only hope for self government in Wisconsin is the returning of Robert M. La Follette and men of his class (and they are few) to the Senate. Only strong men of his type can do the fighting for the rights of the people; to hope for any success, we must select equally as strong men as those invariably placed on the fighting line for the interests. Mr. La Follette has shown himself to be the one man immune from corporate influence. He could be a millionaire many times if he had gone over to the enemies of the people. Every art known to the great malpractors of wealth, have been used to engulf him in Greed's quagmire. He has stood the test, not only of time, but of money. A clear, keen intellect, a character as substantial and unerring as nature itself, with an honest heart re-inforced by the courage of a conviction that persistence means existence with all his might for right.

La Follette the Right Man

"The one man of all men to lead the common herd out of the Stand-pat wilderness, and one who will withstand the influences of the Lackers of predatory greed who are ever hanging on to the coat tails of the Junior Senator—that man is Bob La Follette.

"Compact is his form,
His heart is warm,
His jaunt is light and airy,
His fighting blood
Lived before the flood,
On the hills of Tipperary.

"I will be pleased to hear from you from time to time, and give you any information, or aid you in any way I can to further the interests of Mr. La Follette, and respectfully inclose my humble compliments to the senator whom I sincerely trust will succeed himself next November. I am,

HIBERNIANS TO MEET IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., July 4.—The annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be held in Portland beginning July 18 and thousands of delegates will be in attendance from all parts of the United States. Plans for welcoming the visitors are now going forward, the local committees being busily at work on the proposed reception.

A special train, carrying the national officers of the order, will arrive in Portland Saturday, July 16. The greater part of the delegates, however, will not arrive until the following Monday.

Entertaining side trips will be a big feature of the coming convention. Attractive excursions to many points within reach of the city will be made and it is expected this sight seeing will be a source of great pleasure to the visitors. There will be trolley rides to Council Crest, trips to the nearby ocean beaches, excursions up the beautiful Columbia river, rides on fast interurban trains up the Willamette Valley, as rich and charming a farming district as one would want to see, and jaunts across the state line to historic Fort Vancouver and other points of interest.

Besides there will be a big banquet for the delegates and a reception and ball will be held. The parade of the members of the order is expected to be very impressive. A special orchestra of 31 pieces has been arranged and a chorus of 100 voices to furnish music during the convention.

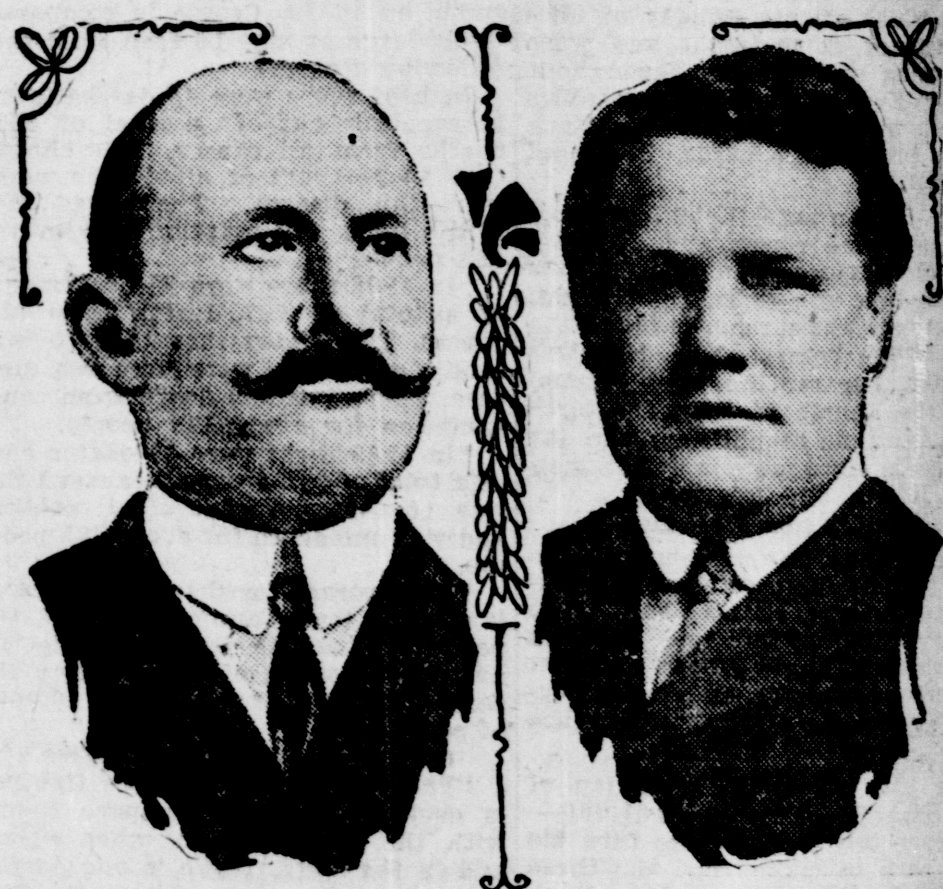

From Philadelphia comes the report that the Quaker delegation is coming strong, determined to elect Joseph McLaughlin, president of the A. O. U. in Pennsylvania, national president. There will be a special train from Philadelphia to the convention, as will also be the case from many eastern points.

AN UNFORTUNATE EVASION

Respective of the justice or injustice of John Plein's imprisonment in the hold of the steamer J. S., where he met his death, the officers of the ill-fated steamer were gravely in error in not having frankly admitted the facts. By attempting to mislead the public through statements that he had been released they have created a prejudice that may tend to discount their version of why he was incarcerated.

The Tribune does not know the facts. It appreciates the necessity of maintenance of order and discipline on a great passenger boat, and the absolute power reposed in the captain is justified. The officials of the boat claim Plein was unruly, and friends of deceased declare he was arrested for less worthy reasons. That is an issue that must be decided, upon the evidence, by the proper authorities.

If Plein was properly arrested, and if he was not permitted to take matches with him into a place filled with inflammable things, the explanation that he was certainly dead when the fire was discovered, and that to have sought to recover his body would have jeopardized the lives of other passengers, would have satisfied the public. But the untruths told will tend to discredit the statement of the officials that Plein deserved arrest and that he was imprisoned with due caution in a safe place. It is unfortunate that the masterly landing of the boat and the prompt and manly conduct of the well trained crew who, ably assisted by cool headed passengers, saved so many lives, should suffer by reason of an incident ill-advised evasion in relation to which has served to discount their work.

THE BIG FIGHT

Today the big fight will be fought. It may be the last one. It should be.

Modern civilization has no place for brutal exhibitions. We grow hoarse crying out against Spanish bull fights, and then we rise up in national enthusiasm over a brutal combat between human beings. True, it is of no great concern that two coarse men meet and pound each other into insensibility. We would not raise a hand to save either of them from a single blow. BUT IT IS THE SPECTACLE WE DEVELOPE. It is the example we are setting our coming generation. We insult the memory of our national birthday with this thing; we let our children detect in us interest in an event that is a scandal upon modern civilization. It is bad enough for the Ethiopian; it is a shame for the white man.

OF SPEECH

"The time has come, the walrus said, To speak of many things, Of shoes and ships and sealing wax, Of cabbages and kings."

That is what a newspaper correspondent said, or quoted, the other day when Col. Roosevelt met the president, and it is what other people have said since the meeting of Col. Roosevelt and the Nebraska insurgent leaders Saturday.

Much stress was laid by standpat newspapers upon the fact that Col. Roosevelt greeted President Taft courteously, and "slapped him on the back." But there was nothing in the incident signifying approval of the Taft administration by the ex-president. These two men have been friends and associates for years, and it would hardly have been appropriate for Mr. Roosevelt to show "cool respect" to the man he made president.

If the meeting had any significance, it was this: That the president refrained from uttering any endorsement of the present administration. Had he done so, the story would have "transpired," and there would be signs of hilarity about the capitol which are now entirely wanting.

With wise caution Col. Roosevelt is digesting the situation, rather than taking it at a gulp. What his final stand will be we do not assume to predict, but we are of the opinion that the more carefully he scrutinizes affairs the more will he be inclined to the opinion that not even his duty as a partisan transcends his broader duty to defend the insurgent cause.

MYSTERY SHROUDS

SUIT OVER PRAYER

MATTOON, Ill., July 4.—An air of mystery surrounds the $5,000 libel suit said to have been filed here by Jacob Strohl, a prominent and wealthy German farmer of this community, in which it is said Rev. R. B. Fisher, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Neoga, Ill., is made defendant, following his refusal to tell the Lord that he had wronged Strohl after he had prayed for him. An investigation of the records of the courts fails to show the suit having been filed. The report of the suit has caused a great deal of feeling here and neither Rev. Fisher or Mr. Strohl could be reached today to throw any additional light on the case.

NO HORSEPLAY

AT WEDDINGS

CHESTER, Pa., July 4.—This city is to be the real friend of the newly weds. Following his action in calling out the police to prevent the hazing of a newly wedded pair, Mayor Johnson said that a general order would be issued commanding the police to stop horse play at all weddings hereafter.

"Marriage is neither a farce or a joke," he said, "and there will be no more foolishness at weddings while I am mayor here."

The mayor is a married man.

By Right of Gift
A disembodied soul that during its earthly incarnation had had troubles of its own descended into Hades. In its new embodiment it was strolling along with a rather pompous air, when it met His Satanic Majesty.

"You act as if you were the owner of this place," observed the sovereign.

"I ought to be," replied the new arrival, airily; "my wife was giving it to me right along."—Everybody's Magazine.

"Why did you try to mail your letter in a fire alarm box? Don't you know there are regular boxes for letters?"

So asked the battalion chief.

"Y-yes," blubbered the dazed maid, "but it was for a lad in England 16."

So the word was passed throughout the department, and when it came off there were quarters and halves enough to furnish a flat near the engine house.

'Liza Mary Jane O'Connors Graduated with high honors. She mastered the curriculum. Also the art of chewing gum. Mathematics never eased her. And metaphysics always pleased her. The sciences and languages—She dreamed about them, so she says. And never owned to feeling glum About the vast curriculum.

Mary's optics had a twist Her men tutors could not resist; In fact, she had such winning ways She skipped examination days! And did exactly as she chose And wore to school her Sunday Clothes.

Of knowledge crammed she knew a lot, But always used her well worn trot. And always stirred up a sensation By bandying in correct translation.

At last 'mid strains of music rare, She lightly tripped the rostrum stair And took her sheepskin tied with ribbon;

Although she did some frightful "cribbin'" But now she's duly graduated! Ah, soon she'll hang it on the wall, And when her friends, perchance, shall call.

They'll read within a gilded frame Her somewhat ultra classic name, 'Liza Mary Jane O'Connors "Graduated with high honors."

The Return of Ferguson

The night clerk in a hotel sat dozing at his desk about 1 a. m., when a man in evening clothes came in as if laboriously trying to walk a crack, and said:

"I'm Ferguson; key to room 44."

The guest disappeared in the direction of his room, one flight up, in a few minutes a man in his shirt sleeves, with a flattened silk hat on the side of his head, and with one shoe on a foot and the other in his hands, came in and said to the clerk:

"I'm Ferguson; key to for-for."

"Mr. Ferguson just took his key and went up."

An Acute Sense of Taste

William and Lawrence were in the habit of saving a part of their dessert from the evening dinner for consumption the next morning, and in accordance with this custom two small cakes had been placed in the cracker jar for them. William, being the first up the following morning and being hungry, went to the jar. He found only one cake, and a large piece had been bitten out of that. Full of wrath, he went upstairs and roused his brother.

"Say!" he demanded. "I want to know who took that big bite out of my cake?"

"I did," sleepily answered Lawrence.

"What'd you do that for?"

"Well, when I tasted it I found it was your cake, and so I let the other one."—Exchange.

He Was Still Game

In a great deal of trepidation a diffident young man called at the office of the father of the girl he was smitten with, and stammered:

"Sir, I—I pardon me, but I want to marry your daughter."

"I'm busy; go and see her mother young man," said the father.

"I have already seen her mother."

"Hurrah! Hurrah!" Mark Twain, as an example of unconscious humor, used to quote a Hartford woman who said one day in the late spring:

"My husband is the dearest fellow."

"Jim," I said to him this morning, 'are you very hard up just now?'

"I certainly am hard up," he replied soberly. This high cost of living is terrible. I don't know what I'm going to do."

"Then, Jim," said I, 'I'll give up all thought of going to the country for July and August this year.'

"But the dear fellow's face changed, and he said:

"Indeed, then you won't, darling. I thought you wanted to buy a hat with an egret or some such foolishness. No, no, my darling—Jim can always find the money to let his dear little wife go to the country."—Washington Star.

There was a hand-clasp, and the mountaineer took himself off. The clock-mender philosophically reached for his tools. He had wasted time enough over retrospection; he determined to occupy himself with the present only. Tick-tock! tick-tock! sang the clocks about him. All at once a volume of musical sounds broke forth; cuckoo-calls, chimes, tinkles light and thin, booms deep and vibrant. But the clock-mender bent over his work; all he was conscious of was the eternal tick-tock! tick-tock! on and on, without cessation.

Carmichael walked his horse. This morning he had ridden out almost to the frontier and was now on his return. As he passed through the last grove of pines and came into the clearing the picture was exquisite; the three majestic bergs of ice and snow above Dreilberg, the city shining white and fairlike in the mid-morning's sun, and the long, half-circling ribbon of a road. He sighed, and the horse cocked his ears at the sound.

No longer did Carmichael take the south pass for his morning rides. That was the favored going of her highness, and he avoided her now. In truth, he dared not meet her now; it would have been out of wisdom. So long as she had been free his presence had caused no comment, only tolerant amusement among the nobles at court. It chafed him to be regarded as a harmless individual, for he knew that he was far from being in that class. There was a wild strain in him. Dreilberg might have waked up some fine morning to learn that for a second time her princess had been stolen, and that there was a vacancy in the American consulate. How many times had he been seized with the mad desire to snatch the bride of her horse and ride away with her into a far country? How often had his arms started out toward her, only to drop stiffly to his sides!

March hares! They were Solons as compared with his own futile madness. But it was different now. She was to marry the king of Jugendheit; it was in the order of things that he ride alone. He knew that court etiquette demanded the isolation of the Princess Hildegarde from male escort other than that formally provided. The two soldiers detailed to act as her grooms or bodyguards were not, of course, to be considered. So, of the morning, he went down to the military field to watch the maneuvers, which were drawing to a close; or rode out to the frontier, or took the side road to Elissen, where the summer palaces were. But it was all dreary; the zest of living had somehow dropped out of things.

The road to Elissen began about six miles north of the base of the Dreilberg mountain. It swerved to the east. As Carmichael reached the fork his horse began to limp. He jumped down and removed the stone. It was then that he heard the far-off mutter of hoofs. Coming along the road from Elissen were a trio of riders. Carmichael laughed weakly.

"I swear to Heaven that this is no fault of mine!"

Should he mount and be off before she made the turn. Bah! It was an accident; he would make the most of it. The bodyguard could easily vindicate him, in any event. He remounted and waited.

She came in full flight, rosy, radiant, as lovely as Diana. Carmichael swung his cap boyishly; and there was a swirl of dust as she drew up.

"Good morning, Herr Carmichael!"

"Good morning, your Highness!"

"Which way have you been riding?"

"Toward Jugendheilt."

"And are you returned?" With a short nod of her head she signaled for the two soldiers to fall back.

The two looked at each other embarrassedly.

"Pardon, Highness," said one of them, "but the orders of the duke will not permit us to leave you. There have been thieves along the road of late."

"Well, once upon a time there lived a king. He was young. He had an uncle who watched over him and his affairs. They call such uncles prince regents. This prince regent had an idea regarding the future welfare of this nephew. He would bring him up to be a man, well educated, broad-minded, and clean-lived. He should have a pilot to guide him past the 'traps and vices which befall the young. Time wore on. The lad grew up, clean in mind, strong in body, liberal; a fine prince. No scandalous entanglements; no gaming; no wine-bibbing beyond what any decent man may do. In his palace few saw anything of him after his fifteenth year. He went into the world under an assumed name. By and by he came home, quietly. His uncle was proud of him, for his eye was clear and his tongue was clean. In one month he was to be coronated. And now what do you think? He must have one more adventure, just one. Would his uncle go with him? Certainly not. Moreover, the time for adventure was over. He must no longer wander about; he was a king; he must put his hand to king-craft. And one morning his uncle found him gone, gone as completely as if he had never existed. What to do? Ah! The prince regent set it going that his majesty had gone a hunting in Bavaria. Then the prince regent put on some old clothes and went a-venturing himself."

"And the end?"

"God knows!" said Ludwig, sliding off the counter.

Nothing but the ticking of the clocks was heard.

"And fatuous fool that his uncle was, he committed an almost irreparable blunder. He tried to marry his nephew."

"I understand. But if you are discovered here?"

"That is not likely."

"Ah, Ludwig, it is not the expected that always happens. Be careful; you know the full wording of Herbeck's treaty."

"Herbeck, there's a man," said Herr Ludwig admiringly. "To have found her highness as he did!"

"He is lucky," but without resentment.

The other picked up his watch. "Can I be of material assistance?"

"I want nothing," he laughingly.

"Proud old imbecile!" replied the mountaineer kindly. "You have been deeply wronged, but some day you will pick up the thread in the labyrinth, and there will be light forward. I myself shall see what can be done with the duke."

"He will never be brought to reason unless indubitable evidence of my innocence confronts him. With the restoration of the princess fifty political prisoners were given their liberty and restored to citizenship. The price once occupied by my name is still blank, obliterated. It is hard. I have given the best of my heart and of my brain to Ehrenstein—for this! I am innocent."

"I believe you, Carl. Remember, Jugendheilt will always welcome you. I must be going. I have much to do between now and midnight. The good God will unravel the snarl."

S.S.S. CURES OLD BLOOD TROUBLES

Contagious Blood Poison is at the bottom of a great many old blood troubles. The disease may have been contracted years ago and some treatment used that removed the outward symptoms and shut the virus up in the system to slumber in the blood, but it only awaited a favorable opportunity to break out in some form again. Certain forms of catarrhal troubles, especially where the bones are affected, scrofulous affections, non-healing sores, ulcerated membranes, etc., are due to this specific poison. Perhaps many who are afflicted in this way are ignorant of the fact that the seeds of this mighty poison are still hidden in the blood. Like the deadly serpent, which is dangerous as long as the faintest spark of life is left to enable it to sink its poisonous fangs, this powerful disease will corrupt and defile while the least particle of its insidious virus remains in the blood.

The best time to get rid of Contagious Blood Poison is when the disease is first contracted, and before its virus so penetrates the blood as to cause ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, etc. Then of course the victim is saved much humiliation and suffering; but even after the poison has become established in the system it can be removed and a cure effected if the blood be thoroughly purified with S. CARNIVAL OPENS THIS MORNING

Biggest Attraction in History Opened Its Doors at 8 O'Clock with Big Show

The Great Cosmopolitan Shows, United, opened the North side carnival at 8 o'clock this morning several of the shows being open to the spectators while others were just beginning to put up the tents and make ready for the afternoon's business.

That it is the biggest attraction that has been brought here is the opinion of the directors of the North Side Amusement Association under whose auspices the carnival is given.

The company carries with it an enormous Ferris wheel, a merry-go-round and many other attractions besides Backman's celebrated animal show, Maybelle, the Katzenjammer Castle, the Glass Blowers, the Alligator Girl and several other attractions of equal merit.

The voting in the contest for the queen of the carnival is becoming brisk. Miss Minnie Whittenberg is still in the lead. Following are the standing of the contestants. Miss Minnie Whittenberg, 448; Dollie Kneches, 406; Laura Larson, 60; Elsie Ott, 52; Bessie Close, 45; Li-la Anderson, 45; Marie Stallsmith, 60; Josephine Utka, 55; Cleo Downs, 60 and Lily Rick 80.

NORTH SIDE IN BRIEF

The John Flynn Relief Corps will hold their annual picnic at Myrick park next Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Alma Sunck has returned to Milwaukee after coming here to witness the graduation of William Stevenson, son of Mrs. Major John Stevenson of 1512 Berlin street.

The north side police officers last night arrested a number of the Burlington railroad employees at Grand Crossing for being intoxicated and disturbing the peace.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mosher, 1637 Avon street, are attending a family reunion at West Salem today.

KESSLER HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

The Milwaukee Switchman Standing on Engine Footboard Is Struck by Truck on Track

Ed. Kessler, a switchman employed by the Milwaukee road had a narrow escape from probable death under the wheels of a switch engine early this morning, when the engine struck a heavy truck which someone had placed on the main track. But for the quick action of the engineer in stopping the locomotive, the switchman would have fallen under the wheels. As it was, he was injured slightly in the stomach and his leg was bruised.

The accident happened early this morning while it was still dark. Mr. Kessler was standing on the footboard at the head of the engine when it struck the truck on the main tracks. The truck was broken, the footboard was smashed and the truck struck the switchman in the leg and in the stomach, knocking him from his position. The locomotive was running at a comparative slow rate of speed and the engineer was able to effect a speedy stop, thus preventing the locomotive from running over the prostrate form of the switchman on the track.

After a little medical attendance Mr. Kessler was taken to his home and this noon he was limping about the yards apparently not much the worse for the accident.

him fruit. She said she made no effort to conceal this, being matron of the institution, and she had done the same for other convicts. She declared she never took any drug to convicts. She says the whole thing is a plot to oust Wenger, who was recently acquitted of a charge of perjury in connection with the graft charge against former Warden Armstrong.

Snitgen was caught with opium, and after solitary confinement confessed to Wenger that Mrs. Wenger had brought him the stuff, enumerating three other occasions. Attorney General Kuhn and the prosecutor secured a confession from Snitgen after an investigation.

A thorough investigation will be made.

NORTH SIDE BOTTLING WORKS
LA CROSSE, WIS.

(Re-Advertisement.)

NOTICE.
The undersigned hereby gives notice that sealed proposals for the erection and completion of a solid brick and stone addition to the La Crosse county agricultural school, Onalaska, Wisconsin, including all labor and material (except heating and plumbing) will be received by the La Crosse County School Board at the office of the architects, La Crosse, Wisconsin, until the hour of 2 P. M. on the 16th day of July, 1910.

All bids must be in strict accordance with the plans and specifications prepared by Parkinson & Dockendorff, architects, of La Crosse, Wisconsin, which may be had on application to the architects. A certified check for two (2 per cent) per cent of the amount of bid payable to the order of the La Crosse County School Board, must accompany each bid as a guaranty, the same to be returned to unsuccessful bidders immediately on the letting of the contract. The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to give a satisfactory bond of fifty (50 per cent) per cent of the amount of contract for the faithful performance of the contract.

The Board reserves the right to accept any or reject any or all bids. (Signed.)

J. L. PETTINGILL,
FRANK BOWLES,
B. F. OLTMAN.

talists who presented a somewhat varied program. The choosing of selections for a program is something like vaudeville—it is a matter of opinion and what suits one doesn't suit another. But it does seem too bad for players of such ability as the Fox Sisters seem to be, to waste time and talent on selections so altogether mediocre as some of their numbers, especially on a Sunday afternoon.

If they are not capable of picking out suitable numbers appropriate to the day ("Yama Yama" and "Cuddle up a little closer" are hardly the thing for Sunday afternoon Chautauqua) a program censor should be appointed by the management.

The organization is composed of six young women who are able very satisfactorily to handle several different instruments. Their number for strings with two cellos and three violins was especially pleasing.

Perry's Lecture
In contrast to this giddy program, was the scholarly lecture of Edward Russell Perry on "Sampson Aroused."

Mr. Perry has been prominent in the active campaign against graft in New York city, and evidently knows whereof he speaks. "Every true man or woman with a noble purpose is a giant," says Mr. Perry. Man is stronger than woman, but a weak woman can worry a strong man into almost anything, so an immoral woman like Delilah Sampson revealed the secret of his strength.

The want of morality is today at the bottom of all economic disaster. We want a better public opinion. There is indeed a significant awakening against corruption and vice.

Active Interest needed
The active interest of the people is always necessary for the enforcement of the laws. When the American people know the facts, they will assert themselves.

The greatest evil of today is the concentration of wealth, the massive fortunes in the hands of a few people. When wealth centers in the hands of a few, other suffer.

These immense fortunes do not represent labor. One of the gravest questions of the day is the absorption of national resources. Some men are working with great subtlety even through the cabinet of the president. Others are standing nobly even in the face of the bitterest vituperation.

Most bills passed by congress have their origin outside of congress, and many senators have reached their present position by gold brick methods. One remedy for this, and which the American people are beginning to see, is the direct selection of U. S. senators.

Gov. Hughes Praised
A man among men who is standing for the right principles, who is clean and fine and who absolutely cannot be bought, is Governor Hughes of New York.

A wider interest of the people is the supreme need. The people are getting away more and more from partisanship to principle and patriotism, and the American redemption is at hand. When the people speak they will be heard.

Need Rich Men

We need rich men, but we need honest rich men. We want equality of opportunity. We don't want philanthropy unless it is honest. The giving away of money will never compensate for the way it was earned. The scale of justice must be equal. Some men have an income of $72,000,000 a year, while a large portion of the laboring classes average less than $400 a year. This is not right.

We want to get away from the rule of gold to the golden rule.

Mr. Perry was heard with the greatest interest, and his lecture was one of the real treats of the week.

Strickland W. Gillilan

Last evening an audience that filled the big tent laughed at and with Strickland W. Gillilan until they didn't want to laugh any more. His "rambling, homely, every day talk, by a rambling, homely every day man" was hugely enjoyed. "Tickles and Trickle" was his subject, and tickles of laughter mingled with trickles of tears, for Mr. Gillilan has a wonderful gift of sympathy and pa-thes as well as comedy.

He tells his stories in an inimitable style all his own and has his audience with him from the moment he shambles onto the platform. In the Chautauqua program of next year, it is to be hoped Mr. Gillilan will not be omitted.

"The Modern Judas"

Laughter and tears followed each other in quick succession during the lecture of Thomas Brooks Fletcher on Saturday evening following the concert by the Hungarian players.

Mr. Fletcher, who announced himself as no preacher but just a common ordinary newspaper man, took for his subject, "The Modern Judas," and his talk was a terrible arraignment of those who today are Judases to the public trust, and to their fellowmen. The descendants of Judas Iscariot are everywhere today, said Mr. Fletcher, and men can always be found who are willing to crawl in the dust for money and their price isn't big either.

Same Methods Today
The methods of Jesus time were compared to those of today, bribery was the same then as now. Christ had to pay the price for being the man he was and today men who preach and practice the Golden Rule have to fight if they do so.

The Pontius Pilate decisions didn't end 2000 years ago. There are agonizing victims of greed and money lust today and in the end the men who

HAIR RESTORER.

Grew a Full Growth of Hair On a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

CITY OBSERVES A QUIET FOURTH

Less Noise than Usual is the Feature of the Celebration in La
Crosse

ONALASKA HAS BIG TIME

La Crosse will Be Well

Represented at the Observance in That City

The general wave that has spread through the country for a sane Fourth has had its effect in La Crosse, the national holiday being observed in this city with much less noise than usual. The mayor and chief of police have signified their intention of enforcing the law and this has helped to a large extent in keeping the boys from making a nuisance of themselves. A general appeal is made to the people to be careful in the use of explosives. The ordinance passed by the common council several years ago, regulating the sale of fire works, has also had its good effect. Only fire crackers of certain length may now be sold and the large cannon cracker has been entirely eliminated.

No formal celebration is being held in La Crosse, but early this morning many people started for the woods where they spent the day. The big Fourth of July celebration at Onalaska will attract large crowds from this city and the surrounding territory this afternoon and the north side carnival is also opened to the public today. There are plenty of place of amusement and everyone may have a chance to celebrate the national holiday in a sane manner.

Mayor Sorensen desires to caution people against carelessness regarding fires. During the long dry spell everything became dry as tinder and those using explosives are warned to be careful.

Kreutz band went to De Soto in Singer's launch this morning to participate in a celebration.

BATTLE OF CENTURY ON AT RENO TODAY

make good in their efforts.

Gambling Stops Sunday
There is a Sunday closing law on the gambling houses in Nevada and up until midnight last night the games were closed tight to show that while the statute books of Nevada might not be as full as those of some other states, such laws as have been passed "go as they lay."

Yesterday thousands of sports made pilgrimages to the two training camps, while others visited the arena where full forces of carpenters were bending to the work in which the last nail was not driven until a few minutes before the opening of the gates. It was a good natured and orderly crowd and there was little drunkenness or disorder.

But tonight! Which ever the way of the battle, Reno is prepared to cross her fingers!

Jeff is either the greatest actor in the country or he was the most unconcerned man in Reno today. He put in nearly all of Sunday playing cards with a number of friends, mostly pugilists, and worked as desperately to win a few cents as he will work today to win the big end of the $101,000. Jeff had new canvas put on the ring.

Negro Says "Wait"

"I know that I am the short end in the betting and I know why. It's a dark secret, but when the fight starts we'll all be color blind. I am going to win and I am going to get a square deal. I respect Mr. Jeffries as a great fighter, but I believe the public will respect me more before sundown. I did not believe that Jeffries would ever get in a ring with me, but I respect his gameness in being willing to take a chance with a younger man. If he wins—he won't, but if he should—I'll not be the last to congratulate him and I'll be sincere in it."

tuberculosis is now prevalent in La Crosse the report makes the following observation:

"You have continually living in the city 233 people who have consumption, but very few of whom are registered at the health department. This means that there are over 200 centers of infection of the white plague which are unknown. Many of these persons are able to work. Some of them are able to work part of the time. Most of them can probably go about the streets and into the homes of their friends. Many of them doubtless do not know they have tuberculosis, or if they do know, do not realize the contagious character of the disease and are taking no precautions to prevent its spread. These unknown centers of contagion are the places where the disease, which in 3 or 4 years will make a death record in the health department, is now lurking, and where it must be discovered and destroyed.

Following this is a detailed statement relative to such matters as sex, age, race, marital condition and occupation of the victims, the various features being supplemented with concise tabulations.

Compliments the Doctors
The report next proceeds to a discussion of the dealings of the local medical fraternity with the disease. This is inclined to be complimen-

JUNE DRYEST IN RECORD OF CITY

Only 0.37 of a Inch of Water Falls and River and Farm Lands Suffer

The month of June was the dryest since the U. S. weather bureau began taking the records in 1873. The normal rainfall for the month of June since 1873 is 4.43 inches, while the fall this June was only .37 of an inch, making the deficiency for this month, compared to normal, 4.06 inches. The accumulated deficiency of rainfall since Jan. 1st is 8.16 inches at La Crosse, showing the entire spring to have been very dry. There was a light frost recorded June 1st. The highest temperature was 100 June 30 and the lowest 40 June 17th. There were 19 clear days, 6 partly cloudy and 5 cloudy. There was light rain on four days during the month.

tary to the doctors, with the exception of one adverse statement. This criticism is to the effect that physicians do not observe the law requiring all deaths from tuberculosis to be reported for public records. It cites the fact that but 20 out of 62 deaths from tuberculosis were reported in 1908, and only one out of 52 deaths in 1909. The writer proceeds to call attention to sections 14 and 16 of the revised statutes directing that such report be made and prescribing a penalty for failure to do so.

Proceeding the report shows the danger of spread of the disease where proper precautions are not taken, and contains a long list of the simple methods that have been effectively employed to check the spread of consumption.

A section of the report devoted to the housing of consumptives is important, in that it emphasizes the manner in which the disease germs breed when once they get into a habitation. A single case of many cited is that in which six people, not related, but being successors to the lease on a certain tenement property, successively developed the disease.

A considerable portion of the report is devoted to an investigation of the industrial plants of the city and instances are cited where consumption developed from special causes which might have been obviated.

The economic condition of the families in which consumption was found is given space in the report, the indications being that the prevalence of the disease is greater among the poorer classes.

In dealing with the health department the report is commendatory so far as diseases other than consumption is concerned, but it points out with striking force that this disease, which occasions more loss of life than the four next deadliest diseases combined, is made the basis of an investment of less than $100 out of a total of $300 expended by the department, and the report says that "the health department, in spite of its efficient work along other lines, is doing next to nothing in the battle against the white plague."

Individual Cases
That portion of the report devoted to individual cases is pathetic in its details, the following summary with which it concluded indicating its general character:

"The following quotations from schedules express the most characteristic things noted in these cases by the investigators. No. 5, 'Filth and carelessness.' No. 1, 'Very poor; son sick all life.' No. 7, 'Very careless.' No. 9, 'House filthy.' Colored family upstairs. Building formerly used for store.' No. 13, 'Weak and not able to work for years.' No. 18, 'Extreme dirt and carelessness.' No. 50, 'Children with patient continually, sputum on floor, perfectly filthy, house never fumigated.' No. 61, 'Careless and refused to call doctor, refused to do as told.' No. 63, 'Child died of same disease shortly after mother's death.' No. 77, 'Patient was too poor to do as doctor prescribed.' No. 78, 'Neighbors complained of carelessness, woman sat on porch and spat on grass.' No. 91, 'Claims she fumigated, investigator doubts thoroughness.' No. 95, 'House filthy.' No. 96, 'Patient slept with mother and sister.' No. 114, 'Advanced stage, fire department across the street has stopped unnecessary noise, seems to owe bills and unable to pay, very dusty roads in front.' No. 115, 'Very poor, paid $4.50 for fumigation.'"

The problems presented, says the report, are discovery, treatment, and prevention of infection. Each is dealt with along the lines of modern theory which they have dealt with extensively by The Tribune in previous numbers.

Under the head "recommendations," the report says:

"It is imperative that this problem should become the work and absorb the whole energy of a trained man skilled in sanitary and medical matters. There is no purpose here of criticizing the present administration of the health department. The work of that department up to this time has not included the tuberculosis problem in any significant way. If this department were enlarged by the appointment of an expert at its head, who would not only utilize the valuable services of your present health officer and his good general work against other contagious diseases, but at the same time, in addition to this, develop up-to-date methods and a far-sighted policy against consumption, I believe that your problem would be largely solved by a striking reduction of the death rate from consumption in a few years.

"Any big, important work needs back of it a mind capable of seeing all its phases and relations and constantly concentrated upon it. Many larger cities have discovered this in reference to their health work and many smaller ones are finding it out. Men trained and capable for this work are hard, but not impossible to find. Such a man would cost at least $2,500 or $3,000 per year and would need adequate resources, perhaps $2,000 or $3,000 per year at the start for a proper administration of his office, and the supplying of indigent cases with eggs, milk, etc., in sufficient quantities for their successful treatment.

"You are now investing in the health of your people $2,000 a year or about 10 cents for each inhabitant of the city. The employment of such a health expert would raise this amount from $7,000 to $10,000 or from 25 to 30 cents per inhabitant.

"Such an expert would, however, actually save the city vastly more than this amount. It has been estimated that taking into consideration all the losses which accompany consumption, the cost of the 2,400 deaths and of those who are sick in Wisconsin, amounts to $17,500,000 annually. This is a loss of $7,000 to each death from this disease. With an average death rate per year of 46, $322,000 of this loss must be charged up to La Crosse. A large part of this can be saved by right measures against the disease.

"Taking no account of the cost of the consumptive to his friends and society while he is sick, but reckoning the bare labor time which is lost, we found in studying 50 cases that there was time actually lost from work of between 40 and 50 years. Figuring at the average rate of wages of $437 per year, this means an annual wage loss in La Crosse of about $20,000 caused by consumption. And the actual productive capacity wasted is doubtless five times this amount or $100,000 annually."

"It is impossible of course to outline fully the work which such a man would accomplish. He would himself develop his own methods and adjust them to the actual situation. His especial value would be that he would be able to do this because of GAL THREE . . . fpi,000l shr constantly focussing disciplined powers of mind upon the problem to which others are able to give only an occasional thought. He would soon have a fund of local knowledge and experience which would be of more value as a guide in his work than any amount of previous planning.

"Such a man would be a scientific worker and his relation to the people a vital and not a political one. It would probably be best that a committee recognized as absolutely impartial should select the man. But nothing further needs to be said about his methods of selection because unless you are deeply serious and sincere in this battle against consumption, you will not follow this suggestion, and if you are, you will yourselves know how to keep political or personal interests out of it."

Urges Permanent Committee

Continuing under the same head the report urges the appointment of a permanent committee on tuberculosis. This, it is suggested, should be a voluntary committee, and it is advised that the present committee having this report in hand be enlarged and made permanent, and that not only the Board of Trade and the Medical Society, but the school board, the health department, the Twentieth Century Club, the Humane Society, the Catholic charities and the Federated Trades and Labor Council be represented. (It may be well to note here that a call has been issued for a meeting to be attended by representatives of the above societies to take place at the City Hall on Thursday night.)

In this connection the report urges that among other things this committee pay diligent attention to compel the reporting of existing laws.

The last suggestion is urged with intense earnestness. It is for the erection of a county sanitarium for the treatment of tuberculosis patients, and the present conditions at

INIQUITOUS TARIFF DEPOPULATING U.S.

Champ Clark in Fourth of July Speech Attacks Republicans as Responsible for Evils

NEW YORK, July 4.—Champ Clark, democratic leader in the house, who was principal speaker at the Tammany Hall Fourth of July celebration here, declared the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill to be iniquitous.

Clark attacked the wool schedule in the tariff with vigor, declaring that the great white plague was in a measure due to the higher tariff on wool, fewer blankets being imported and the poor thus being rendered more liable to consumption.

"This high cost of living is driving 100,000 Americans annually to settle in British North America. Instead of being a party of patriotism, the republican party is a party of expatriation."

Clark declared hundreds of millions of dollars were being wasted annually by the republican party.

the poor farm, where patients who are county charges are being treated, are severely criticized. As to a proper location for the sanitarium, the essentials are a sheltered location, pure fresh air, dry soil, sand or rock preferred, rising ground with a southerly aspect and good shelter from hills and woodlands. Warning is given against contiguity of a city or large factory. The vicinity of high roads with their dust should be avoided; plenty of grass is advisable.

LARSON FUNERAL TOMORROW MORNING

The funeral of Edward Larson, former register of deeds, who died Saturday afternoon at his home, 935 Division street, will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at West Salem. The body was taken to the home of his mother in West Salem Saturday night.

Decedent was born in 1861. He formerly conducted a store at West Salem. He was elected register of deeds and served two terms, succeeding Randolph Elliot. After leaving the office he was engaged in the insurance business and for the past year was employed in the local offices of the Burlington road. He was taken ill last April with cancer of the stomach, which was the cause of his death.

Surviving are his widow and one son, Allen, besides one brother, Louis Larson of Chicago, and his parents of West Salem.

Can You Do This Sum?

If a bookkeeper on a salary of $12 a week steals $144,000 from a bank in a small city, how much ought an office boy on a salary of three a week to take from a New York corporation? Back of this question in mental arithmetic lie two serious thoughts. Men and boys who are responsible for vast sums of money or who can obtain access to them should be adequately paid for the services they render and the moral character they must possess to resist great temptation. They should also be heavily bonded, checks should be placed upon them, and a strict oversight of their work should be provided.—Providence Bulletin.

Hygiene in Japan.

As a specimen of how practical the Japanese are with their knowledge of western science and determination to deal with disease, they have levied a tax on every household to produce two rats every month. A fine is imposed if the rats are not caught, and produced at the time of inspection. Every rat is examined, and if found to be plague infected the house from which they come is to be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Twice a year every house and shop has to disgorge all its effects and be completely cleaned out. The things only go back after sanitary inspection.

SWINDLERS WORK HERE AND FLEE

W. A. Whitmore, Dairy Dealer, Paid Farmers in Worthless Checks for Produce Purchased

STORE ENTERED BY OFFICERS

Who Find that Crooks Had Fled; Blank Check Book Is Found; Deposits Withdrawn

When officers of the local police department late yesterday afternoon entered the store lately occupied by the firm of W. A. Whitmore, 119 North Second street, they found that both of the alleged swindlers had disappeared leaving behind them but a large blank check book on the First National bank of this city.

The concern came here two weeks ago last Wednesday and at once opened a store and deposited a sum of $500 in the First National Bank. The two men then began to purchase eggs and dairy products from the farmers in this vicinity within a radius of about 100 miles, paying for the purchases with checks on the bank. The first batch of checks according to the police were good but it is alleged that the men then withdrew their money which they had deposited in the bank and began paying the farmers in worthless checks.

The two men, W. A. Whitmore and his accomplice, whose name the police do not know have completely disappeared. No one seems to know where the men came from or where they have gone. The police department have notified the cities in this vicinity and police departments in all the larger cities to be on a sharp lookout for the fugitives. The crooks retailed their products from the store in this city and are supposed to have swindled the farmers to an extent of several thousand dollars.

J. Pierpont Morgan actually takes up the collection every Sunday in one of the Fifth avenue churches of New York city. He and five other men can create a financial panic within twenty-four hours, any time they wish to so completely do they control American finance.

If Jesus Christ were to walk into that church some Sunday morning, Mr. Morgan would grab his silk hat and run faster than the money chasers ran out of the temple.

If a remedy is offered a man is voted a demagogue or an anarchist. The evolution must be slow and progressive. We can't legislate as much as we can educate.

Our fat president hits them a little legislative pat, and then kisses the place.

When Roosevelt gets to be president again two years from now he will take them over his knee and use the big stick till their consciences get red in the face.

An educated conscience is one remedy, another—to kill off the little Judases—for the Judas Iscariot business isn't all with the big men. Let us all be honest.

Mr. Fletcher closed his lecture which was all too short, with a dramatic appeal and warning for the American homes, where modern Judases are allowed to enter, and in which he said if "America did not mend she must end."

Signor Lepski is a fine conductor and every player responded to his magnetic leadership. The popular melodies were given with a vim that was altogether delightful, and the more classical numbers with admirable expression and balance. The volume of the orchestra was wonderful for so small a number of players, and a genius of a piano player added greatly to the ensemble.

The first violinist rendered a solo, "Gypsy Dances," by Sarasate, which was immensely enjoyed, responding to an encore with Schumann's "Träumerei," very well played. These players will be assured of a hearty welcome if they return next year.

If four years in the Navy don't quadruple your energy and capacity, it's your fault. Employment is guaranteed. An honorable discharge from the Navy as a high recommendation.

Work isn't hard. Can't lose your position if you behave. No strikes, layoffs or hard times. Comfortable food and clothes. Plenty of good things to eat. Baseball, football, tennis, fishing, swimming, boxing, fencing, minstrel troupes, target practice, all sorts of pleasures. Plenty of shore leave and turloughs for well behaved men.

Pay $211.20 to $24 per year. As you're practically no living expenses, you can save most of your pay. Good chance for promotion all the way up to Warrant Officer at $2400 yearly.

Apply Navy Recruiting Officer, La Crosse Postoffice building.

INSURGENTS LEAD IN STATE OF IOWA

Cummins and Dolliver Indorsed and Taft Is Asked to Remove Their Opponents

DES MOINES, Ia., July 4.—In resolutions that rang with a hearty indorsement of Senators Dolliver and Cummins and the Iowa progressive congressmen, many counties urged upon President Taft that "he remove from the cabinet those members who have attempted to read out of the Republican party other Republicans whose only crime has been to insist that congress redeem the pledges made at the last national convention."

At the same time these resolutions indorsed President Taft only in so far as he has made efforts to carry out the progressive policies. The progressive counties which adopted these resolutions pleaded for a united party and indorsed the principles of conservation as laid down by Theodore Roosevelt and as at present expressed by Gifford Pinchot.

Returns have been received in Des Moines from all the ninety-nine counties which held conventions to select delegates to the state convention, and show that the progressives will control the state gathering by a majority of 155 delegates.

EXPULSION FROM WEST POINT FOR CHEWING

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4.—Gum chewing within reasonable limits may be tolerated at West Point, but the sad fate that overcame a cadet shows that the gum chewer must be frank about it. Failing to do so, the sixty-second article of war is bound to be unleashed and drive him from the academy. This happened in the case of Everett Carlton Crear, of the fifth class at West Point. He denied to the officer of the guard while he was a member of the punishment squad that he was chewing gum. The fact of the matter was that he did have a quid secreted in his cheek and his denial was reported to the authorities. They invoked the powers of the sixty-second article and Crear was tried by court martial. He was found guilty.

The finding of the court under the provisions of the sixty-second article was sent to the White House for action. It was duly announced that Taft had confirmed the verdict and thus was the military career of Cadet Crear brought to an untimely end.

The sixty-second article refers "to conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

CHICAGO DIVIDES A DOUBLE HEADER

Defeat St. Louis in First Game, 4 to 1, and Lose the Second Contest 3 to 1

CUBS TRIM THE CARDINALS

Good Stick Work in Pinches Defeats St. Louis by the Score of 5 to 3 Yesterday

Chicago, 4-1; St. Louis, 1-3
CHICAGO, July 4.—The White Sox split a double header with St. Louis, winning the first, 4 to 1, and dropping the second, 3 to 1. Young "Cy" Young started to pitch the second game for Chicago with Jack Powell opposing him, but was taken out in the third inning after three hits had been made off him when two men were gone. Olmstead finished the game. Scores: First game—R H E Chicago, 4-1; St. Louis, 1-3. Batteries—Scott and Payne; Ray, Stevens and Killifer. Second game—R H E Chicago, 3-1; St. Louis, 1-3. Batteries—Young, Olmstead and Block; Powell and Killifer.

Detroit, 4; Cleveland, 3
DETROIT, Mich., July 4.—The Tigers played the old peppery game which has been so badly missing for the past two weeks, winning with a batting rally in the eighth and ninth which drove Harkness to the bench. Score: R H E Detroit, 4-1; Cleveland, 3-1. Batteries—Works and Schmidt; Harkness, Koestner and Easterly.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Chicago, 5; St. Louis, 3
ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 4.—The Cubs trimmed the Cardinals 5 to 3. Good stick work by the Chicagoans in tight pinches was responsible for the victory. A double header was to have been played, but the grounds were wet from the morning's rain and only one game was attempted. Score: R H E St. Louis, 3-1; Chicago, 5-3. Batteries—Sale, Lush and Bresnahan; Cole and Kling. Pittsburgh, 10; Cincinnati, 2
CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 4.—It was easy for the Pirates. They walked away from the Reds by the score of 10 to 2. Score: R H E Cincinnati, 2-10; Pittsburgh, 10-2. Batteries—Gaspar, Benton and McLean; Camnitz and Gibson.

MINISTER PICKS "JEFF" TO WIN

CARTHAGE, Mo., July 4.—Every man with red blood in his veins would like to see Jim Jeffries regain the heavyweight championship from Jack Johnson at Reno today. This is the opinion of Rev. H. E. Tralle, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city. In a sermon, the topic of which was "The Big Fight," Rev. Tralle predicted the big boilermaker would knock out the negro before the tenth round and said he believed all who could should see the contest. "I should be glad to see the fight," declared Rev. Tralle, "if I had time and money, but I have not. I do not see any harm in my being interested in the fight. As a minister and a man I have a right to be interested in everything that interests men. Jeffries will win. He will knock out Johnson before the tenth round. There is only one man who can win, and that is Jeffries. "And this will be the last big fight. Never again will there be another real big fight. "Prize fighting is going out. It is no longer the style when San Francisco turns down the game, and it is time to quit. The game has fallen into bad hands and its doom is sealed. Prize fighting is not as brutal as football, but football will live because it is in good hands."
